LIVELY WORK HANDLING HONOLULU'S HEAVY MAIL

The way in which Uncle Sam handles the mail is proverbial for its precision and despatch and the local post office is by no means behind in maintaining the standard. In fact if any of the post offices of the mainland can beat yesterday's record, they will have to earn their laurels by mighty hard work and might quick thought and action.

The post office opened yesterday morning with a heavy consignment of foreign parcels post from the Coptic to work on. Then came the Manchuria mail, 108 sacks, followed immediately almost by the Sonoma mail, 414 sacks, a total of 522 sacks. The railway mail had to be gotten out for the county of Oahu and it went on time. Then the local carriers had to get out with the city letter mail. Every letter arriving by either boat had been delivered before the last carrier came back to the post office last night.

The other islands had to be attended to also. President Kennedy had ordered the Ke Au Hou to come in yesterday morning to take up the Kaula mail. It left right on the dot at 5 o'clock, thirty-one sacks. The Inter-Island Company also volunteered to send the Claudine on to Hilo to accommodate the Hawaii county people who wanted to read Christmas missives. Availing themselves of that courtesy, the post office sent off by the Claudine 127 sacks more. The Inter-Island gets no pay for this extra service.

In addition to that the mail had to be made up for the Orient by the Manchuria, leaving at 8 o'clock. At 6:45 every sack was at the wharf ready for the launch to take it out. The Colonial mail had also to be gotten out and that too was attended to. Christmas coming on, the registered mail was the heaviest in the history of the Honolulu post office, 87 sacks against 55 sacks for high water mark before.

Much of the foreign mail had to be inspected by the custom house for dutiable articles, which took time, and worst of all, this happens to be the month when, by the regulations, every shipment of mail has to be weighed in order to give the post office department the proper data for calling for bids for the new mail contracts. It can not be weighed until it is all made up and ready to go aboard the steamers and this too caused a rush.

But to see the post office people working you would not think that there was anything extra doing. Everything goes like clockwork and by six o'clock last night you could not see any evidence of the enormous amount of mail that had been handled, although a few hours before the post office was stacked up with mail bags so high that the postmaster himself had to go out and come clear around to the other side of the building in order to get into the distributing room.

Postmaster J. G. Pratt said last night that up to date not a single registered package or even a single letter had been left behind when the mails were closed.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

J. T. McCrosson has returned from the Coast.

Former Judge Gear arrived from the Coast yesterday.

The band will play Monday afternoon at the big football game.

Mr. Newcomb the architect and Miss Newcomb are in Manchester, N. H.

Col. and Mrs. Samuel Parker and family returned home in the Manchuria.

J. T. Crawley, the agricultural chemist, returned from the Coast yesterday.

Miss J. de l'Artigue returned yesterday from the Coast much improved in health.

Harold Rylett, a British radical journalist, passed through in the Sonoma on a tour of the British Empire.

C. M. Cooke, president of the Bank of Hawaii, and Mrs. Cooke returned in the Manchuria from an extended tour.

G. C. Widner, a magazine illustrator, arrived with his wife and child in the Sonoma for a visit of two months to the islands.

C. H. Thurston, chief engineer of the Honolulu Fire Department, returned in the Sonoma from attendance at a congress of fire chiefs in Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Young are again in Honolulu and registered at the Hawaiian. Mr. Young is making one of his periodical business trips here.

Miss Sadie McLain, of the Board of Education's teaching force, returned in the Manchuria from spending a six-month leave of absence on the main land.

During the gale in which the Sonoma ran last Monday the waves washed over the ship time and again and the bridge railing was twisted out of shape.

Mr. and Mrs. Tritch of Denver, Colo., who have previously visited the islands, arrived again yesterday on the Manchuria and registered at the Young.

Mr. Benno Batt, for many years connected with the great drug firm of Leipsitz & Co., San Francisco, arrived on the Manchuria to fill a responsible position with the Hollister Drug Co.

Any donations or gifts for the newsboys' Christmas tree may be left between now and Monday at the Salvation hall, corner King and Nuuanu street.

Miss Florence Yarrow, assistant to the pastor of Central Union church, returned yesterday from San Francisco whither she had accompanied the widow of Rev. Dr. Shepardson.

Clerk Simonton has made an arrangement with Auditor Fisher whereby Judge Robinson's jurors can receive their pay by calling at the Judiciary clerk's office between 10:30 and 12 o'clock this morning.

A letter has been received by the Board of Immigration from its president, Secretary Atkinson, giving details of his interviews with President Roosevelt and Commissioner Sargent on Hawaiian immigration matters.

One of the finest calendars seen for 1906 is that of the Henry Waterhouse Trust Co. From an artistic standpoint it is the handsomest ever seen in the islands as it is a faithful replica of the fine painting "The Sentinel," by Dolph.

The Honolulu Improvement Committee met last evening at the Bureau of Agriculture and Forestry at which several routine matters were considered. The committee will report regularly to the Hawaii Promotion Committee on all matters acted on.

Appeals have been taken to the Supreme Court from the District Court of Honolulu on the constitutionality of the county ordinances against barricaded doors to gambling places and the sprinkling of clothes by means of the mouth in laundering for hire.

C. A. Schmiedte, indicted by the Grand Jury for embezzlement, was arrested under three warrants last evening. At a late hour, the police station said it had been impossible to communicate with Judge Lindsay in order to ascertain the amount of bail required.

Tomorrow afternoon, at 3 o'clock, at St. Andrew's Cathedral, the seven Sunday schools of the Episcopal church in Honolulu will meet for a Christmas eve service. In the evening at 7:30 o'clock there will be at the cathedral a musical service. Instead of a sermon a number of Christmas carols will be sung. These will include several old carols with solo parts and choruses.

M. T. Backus, a prominent banker of Seattle, and wife, passed through yesterday on the Sonoma en route to New Zealand on a pleasure trip. Mr. Backus was one of the four bankers, who, during the panic of 1893, withstood the shock, and prevented a single failure of any large business house in Seattle.

Frank H. Loucks, who was clerk to Circuit Judge Gear for some time, is now one of the two managing owners of the Hongkong-Manila Co., doing a launch and lighter business in Manila Bay. His partner is M. C. Eisenheimel. The concern is said by the Manila Bulletin to have made desirable connections at Hongkong, Shanghai and Singapore. By the way, the Bulletin is edited by Phil H. Dankey, a former newspaper man of Honolulu.

U. S. Marshal E. R. Hendry returned in the Manchuria from his trip to Seattle, where he delivered G. L. Brokaw, the self-surrendered bail-jumper indicted for land frauds, to the Washington State authorities. The Marshal spent a short time in San Francisco and visited Los Angeles. Secret Service Agent Hazen cautioned the Marshal to look out here for "raised" paper money. Mr. Hazen had captured six counterfeiters for raising $1 and $2 bills to tens and twenties.

Jas. B. Castle had to suspend negotiations with Mr. Fairchild, representing Col. Spalding, over the grinding contract with the Molokans owing to illness on Thursday evening. It is said the principal remaining point at issue is that of the percentage of sugar the Molokans will receive for cane delivered at the mill. Col. Spalding wants to give a flat rate per hundred pounds of cane regardless of the polarizing quality of the sugar therefrom, while Mr. Castle thinks the planters should be allowed a premium on cane producing sugar that will polarize above 96 degrees.

F. L. Waldron, the commission merchant, returned in the Manchuria after an absence of three weeks, accompanied by Mrs. Waldron and family from a tour of seven months. It was a great sight, Mr. Waldron said, the race between the Manchuria and Sonoma in making port. Thursday afternoon the Manchuria was fifteen miles behind the Oceanic liner, but the big Pacific Mail boat passed her coming in the Molokai channel yesterday morning. "Very rough weather was met after leaving San Francisco, but it made no difference with the Manchuria," Mr. Waldron said.

A Chicago paper says "the automobile has come to stay," while anybody knows it has come to go.

"HIS FIDDLERS THREE."

The venerable monarch Cole, tradition hath it, was possessed of exuberant spirits. He was wont, according to no less an authority than Mother Goose, when harassed by the cares of state, to summon the trio of court musicians, demand his royal O. P. S. and his cut plug and thus fortified, bid dull care begone. In this later day
